

A Letter from Our Founder

I put this page together to give you everything you need for your upcoming cyber liability assessment. Before we get started, let me be blunt: If your cybersecurity program can't tie back to a standard, it won't stand up in court. And if it won't stand up in court, it won't stand up to an insurance claim, a regulatory audit, or a lawsuit from a client whose data just walked out the back door.

That's not theory. That's experience. I've been in the room when hospitals got ransomed, when CEOs couldn't look their boards in the eye, and when MSPs realized—too late—that their “good enough” security wasn't even close.

At Galactic Advisors, our mission is to protect one million people—by helping MSPs like you operationalize security, document it, and back it up with real evidence. Because it's not enough to be secure. You have to be able to prove it.

We specialize in third-party assessments that reveal what your tools won't tell you:

- Where your liability is hiding
- Where your security program is missing the mark
- Where your evidence trail falls short of what insurers, auditors, and attorneys expect

MSPs that work with us close more deals, reduce their exposure, and sleep better at night—because they know where they stand, and they can defend it.

Most MSPs are one bad click away from a courtroom. And most don't know it—until they get hit. You have a choice: wait and hope you're lucky, or fix the gaps now, with data that holds up when it matters most.

That's why we built our Cyber Liability Assessment—to help you find the risk before it finds you.

Dedicated to a more secure future,

A stylized, handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "B. McCully".

Bruce McCully

Founder, Galactic Advisors